

JEN CLARKE

Executive Director, One To World

Jen joined One To World in July 2016, bringing more than 20 years of experience in international affairs, education and fundraising, and a lifelong passion for promoting global economic justice and cross-cultural understanding. From her experience as a volunteer in Zimbabwe to her work in communications, policy and project management at the Canadian International Development Agency (now part of Global Affairs Canada), Jen's career has required travel throughout the world, including managing development projects in Zimbabwe and Ghana. From 2009 to 2016, she directed corporate and foundation relations, first at Clarkson University in upstate New York, and then at The Cooper Union in New York City. Outside of career endeavors, she has served on the board executive committees of several nonprofit intercultural education and food security organizations. She holds a Bachelor of Journalism with a double major in Political Science, and an M.A. in Geography with a concentration in Geopolitics, both from Carleton University in Ottawa, Canada.
